

BE STILL

©2006 by Jon Murphy

*The older I get the more I regret
Not learning to wait on the Lord
I conquer each hill
Seeking after my will
Neglecting to live by His word*

*But the God of grace
Who started this race
Said to run in such a way that you win
That way is be still
And rest in His will
He will exalt you again and again*

Chorus

*Be still and know I am God
Place your hope in My every day
For I am good to those who wait
To those who seek My face
Be still and know I am God
I will lead you in truth
When you wait on Me
You'll gain new strength
You'll run and never faint*

*When my hope is misplaced
Through the trials I face
It seems nothing can go my way
But when my hope is in Him
I step out on that limb
He's faithful to lead me each day*

(Chorus)

*Oh, to rest in His will
And let Him fulfill
The promises that He has made
Is such a delight
To let Him lead the fight
Your salvation He's already paid*

(Chorus)

Oh, be still

Some thoughts from Jon...

It's hard to be still, as Psalm 46:10 tells me to do, if I'm not living by His word and recognizing His sovereignty over everything. To be still actually requires action on my part. Placing my hope in Him every day as I seek Him. He is the strength of the righteous!
